DETAILED ACTION

1. This action is in response to applicant's amendment received on 3/16/10.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 2-4, 15 and 24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Camenzind (PCT WO 99/56918) in view of Poitras (3,557,789).

Camenzind discloses the invention substantially as claimed including a body 6, a blade 2, two spindles (9 and 10), a weighing element 51, a measuring sensor 14 having evaluation electronics (inherently disclosed, see abstract where the display is for measuring physical value), a transmission arrangement (inherently disclosed in Fig. 5), the weighing element is capable of moving transversely to the spindle by the weight of the load, the weighing element is foldable out of the body. Camenzind doesn't show a transmission arrangement/lever element configured to pivot about a spindle. However, Poitras teaches the use of a transmission arrangement/lever element 28-29 configured to pivot about a spindle 27 for the purpose of permitting accurate selection of the weight. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the device of Camenzind by providing the transmission arrangement/lever element with the spindle as taught by Poitras in order to obtain a device that permits accurate selection of the weight. Also, Poitras is capable of transmitting the torque force directly to the measuring sensor because uses only one lever member to transmit the weight.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that Piotras doesn't show a spindle of at least three mounting spindles positioned and configured to foldably secure a cutting tool. However, Piotras was cited for the teaching of a transmission arrangement/lever element 28-29 configured to pivot about a spindle 27 for transmitting the weight, and not for the teaching of being foldable which is clearly disclosed by Camenzind. Also, Piotras and Camenzind are analogous art because both are related to art of weighing element. Clearly Piotras perform the function of changing the force direction of the load (see Fig. 1) to torque force (the force generated at the rotation of the spindle 27).

Conclusion

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

Art Unit: 3724
